

Tips for Interacting Effectively with People with Muscular or Neurological Limitation

Muscular or neurological disabilities may affect motor ability and/or speech. The severity and functional affects of the disability vary from person to person. The disability may or may not be visible. Refer to people with speech impairments and people with mobility impairments for tips.